WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT?

The Dress Responsively Clothing Company doesn't exist. Yet. This website is a product of Sparkbox's Build Responsively workshop. Dress Responsively was originally built as a mock project to create working files and content for the workshop's attendees.

But then we got to thinking.

What standards-loving, responsively-building, media-querying web citizens wouldn't love some apparel which flies the flag of the future of the web? Let's turn it over to the people.

So here we are. If we are able to stump for enough interest, tweets, and votes for this geekwear, we'll print up the winner and make it available. Check out the shirt designs, vote for your frontrunner, and pass us along to your friends. Democracy at work, folks. It's either that or mob rule, whichever comes first. Either way, we all get sweet shirts out of it.

Responsive design is always the right answer. Though it is not always the only answer.

Listen to Bruce Lee. Be like water, my friend.

We've got to design in the browser. We just don't have the tools yet.

A little something clever and explanatory about the shirt. Keep in mind that we can't be too exclusive in the humor, at least not without giving subtle explanation.
